

Genetic Computers, Inc. has been doing business in the Capital District since 1985, being one of the first personal computer stores to enter the area.

We specialize in Sales, Service and Support of PC and Macintosh computers, from individual end users to full office networks. We also manufacture custom computers to your specifications. Our clientele include professionals in many different fields such as public relations, insurance, law, engineering, and graphic design.

Our clients range from those who have a single computer, to those that run large networks. We can handle all of today's technology, such as scanners, RAID systems, wireless networks, and complete multimedia entertainment.

Genetic Computers, Inc. also services individual end users that comprise everything from home based printing firms to hard-core game enthusiasts, or even those just looking for a home computer.

We are committed to bringing you the absolute best in computer Sales, Service & Support.

Custom PCs

Genetic Computers will customize and build a computer to fit your needs. All PCs are built with quality components and rigorously tested to ensure stability. We will also upgrade existing PCs with the latest technology so that you can breathe new life into your current computer. Turn that old sloth into a dangerously fast speed machine. Add a soundcard, DVD player, and speakers to turn it into a multimedia entertainment center. Want fast Internet? We'll install an ethernet card so that you can cruise on DSL or Cable. Don't forget about a CD-RW, so you can back up your files and create custom CDs!

Laptops

If you require speed and mobility, then look to us for your answers. We'll find the right laptop for the right price, and make sure you're ready for computing on the go.

Networks

Genetic Computers offers network solutions that allow offices to exist in an error free working environment. Using components from such companies as 3Com, Cisco, Intel, and Western Digital, we provide offices and individuals with affordable solutions. Custom networking allows clients to conform hardware to their individual needs, whether it be networking a series of printers, sharing a live video feed, or simply connecting two computers at home.

Printers

We have a large supply of printers that can fill all of your printing needs, whatever they may be. Whether it is home or business, our hand-selected printers are top-of-the-line from the leaders in the industry. Not only do we sell printers, but we also service them. Replacement of parts, troubleshooting, and maintenance are just some of the services we offer. We even refurbish printing consumables, so that you can get extended use out of those expensive printer cartridges.

Service & Support

Genetic Computers offers a number of ways in which we can service your computer, network, and/or printer. On-site service allows us to troubleshoot the problem right in front of you, without the hassle of bringing it to us. For more serious cases, we will service your equipment in-house, where our multitude of diagnostic equipment will allow us to rapidly identify and repair the problem. From hardware replacement to virus recovery and data backup, we're the ultimate source for technical support.

Quality Components

At Genetic Computers, we are proud of the choice of components we use. Only the best equipment from the best manufacturers means quality you can rely on.
